

BIO --Tom Linneweber

Tom Linneweber is an HR generalist with over 3 decades of leadership in areas of employee relations, recruitment, employee development, benefits management and risk management; from stand-alone facilities to multiple-state, and multi-cultural enterprises. He holds SPHR and SHRM-SCP certifications.

As the senior human resources executive for Plansee-Mitsubishi Materials' U.S. group (PMG), Tom served on the post-merger global HR team that created a "One Company" culture, defining and publishing a global code of ethics, global mission and vision statements, and then directed the new global strategy and culture at three post-merger US corporations in four states.

As the human resources leader at Baldor Electric Company in Flowery Branch, Tom's major focus is workforce ignition: challenging employees at every level to grow -- to reach -- to perform at the edge of their abilities and feel proud of what they accomplished.
